

IFHA Arts & Humanities Research Symposium

January 25

9:00am- 12:00pm

Join us and explore how some of the most pivotal discoveries in the arts and humanities occur at the crossroads of academic disciplines. The Interdisciplinary Frontiers in the Humanities and Arts (IFHA) program is in its final year and supports seven interdisciplinary teams focused on addressing critically important cultural, economic, political, and social issues.

The symposium will include engaging graduate student presentations from each of the IFHA teams including:

Communication of Scholarship:

Introduction by Mario Biagioli - Alexandra Lippman & Russel Neches

Children in Economic Distress:

Introduction by Marianne Page - Lillybelle Deer

Gamification

Introduction by Colin Milburn - Evan Lauteria & Ranjodh Dhaliwal

Managing Temporary Migration:

Introduction by Giovanni Peri - Robin Savinar

Public Interest Design:

Introduction by Susan Verba - Tracy Manuel & George Slavik

Workforce Development:

Introduction by Ann Stevens - Michel Grosz

Enhance Health & Resilience in Immigrant Communities:

Introduction by Nolan Zane - Lay Vang

